

B.A. PART I
History of English literature

By: Bharti Rai
Disst. Prof.
Dept of English
H.D.T.E

The Middle English Period. (1066 - 1340)

- Political: the establishment of the Norman and the Angevin dynasties.
the internal struggles between king, nobles, clergy and the people.
the numerous wars at home and abroad.
- Literary: the rise of the religious orders, their early enthusiasm and their subsequent decline.
the blossoming of spirit of chivalry and romance.
new sympathy for the weak and the poor.
the crusades and the widening of the European outlook
(which was gradually to expand into the rebirth of the intellect: Renaissance).

English Language

Five main dialects:

- a) Northern : Lowlands Scots & Northern English (Old Northumbrian) <sup>Origin from</sup>
- b) Mercian in East Midland and West Midland.
- c) Kentish : South Eastern
- d) West Saxon : South Western

East Midland dialect developed into Received Standard English of today. (because of the importance of the capital, London.)

Literary Features

- 1) The Transition:
- 2) The Anonymous literature
- 3) The Domination of Poetry.

Verse Chronicles

Poetry

Religious & Didactic Poetry

Romances

Poetry

Chronicles: Especially Verse Chronicles

- a) Laymon's Brut: Laymon wrote in 1205. The chief source is the Roman de Brut by Wace (which was itself a translation into Norman French of the Historia Regum Britanniae of Geoffrey of Monmouth). (History of Britain from the landing of Brutus to the death of Cadwallader.)
- b) Robert of Gloucester: Ryming Chronicles. For him Arthur is the hero of his work.
- c) Robert Manning of Brunne:

✓ Story of England: wrote and finished between 3-4 p.m. in afternoon of Friday on 25th May, 1338. It begins with Noah and the Deluge and ends with the death of Edward I.

Source: first part translates Wace's Brut

Second part: Chronicle of Pierre De Langtoft an Anglo-Norman work. (Alexandrine couplets)

✓ Handlyng Synne: 1303, four-stress line couplets.

Based upon: Manuel des Pechez of Wadinton

Religious and Didactic Poetry

- a) Osmulum: Written by Osm

North East Midland Dialect

Metre based on the Latin septenarius (15 syllables)

large number of homilies (religious)

- b) The Owl and the Nightingale: rhyming couplets.

long argument between owl (standing for wisdom and soberity) & Nightingale (lighter joys of life)

- c) The Vision to Our Lady, Genesis, Exodus, Beowulf, the Moral Ode, the Proverbs of the Alfred, Moral Ode

- d) The Curos Mundis: religious work of an encyclopedic nature listing all the Old and the new Testament stories.
- e) Richard Rolle of Flamborough: Prick of Conscience.
- f) The Alliterative Poems:
Pearl, Purety, Patience, Sir Gawain and the Green Knight.

③ The Romances:

Four Groups: Alliterative and Rhyming Both.

- a) The Matter of England: English history and heroes: King Harold Havelock the Dane, Guy of Warwick and Bevis of Hampton
- b) The Matter of Britain: King Arthur
Sir Tristern, Arthur and Merlin, Ywain and Gwain, Morte de Arthur
Sir Gawain and the Green Knight: finest Middle English Romance
- c) The Matter of Rome, the Great: Alexander the Great Liege of Troy, The Destruction of Troy, King Alisander.
- d) The Matter of France: Charlemagne legends, Sir Feusumbras

Prose

- 1) The Andene Riwle: written for three Noble Ladies to guide them in life they had chosen. Guiding principle is moderation in everything
- 2) The Azenbite of Inwyf: written by Dan Michael of Northgate in 1340.